

FRENCH ROBOTIC CUP FINAL EUROBOT

2009 NEWSPAPER N. 6

FOREVER !

Last statistics !

- 149 French teams arrived
- 43 Eurobot teams arrived
- 75 French teams homologated
- 34 Eurobot teams homologated

Coupe Off

Stress, stress... After three days of sanding, drilling, debugging, you'll be ready for our fine « Coupe Off » ! Friday evening at the COSEC, special challenges, without prizes (but not without glory) will be held. Challenges to relieve the stress, involving robots and mascots. Challenges tailored for hacked up robots as Mc Gyver : slalom/race for wire-operated robots, dance competition, sumo championship (and inverse-sumo), Babel towers and puck throwing. Subscriptions and information are available on the big paper list in the COSEC next to the welcome desk.

General Assembly Eurobot

You all are invited to the general meeting of Eurobot which will be held in the panoramic room of Athena, on Friday at 14:00. Every member has the right of vote: the independent European teams and the teams from the national qualifications.

Great Picture Contest

Do you dream to be the cup's brightest star ? Now is the time !

4 themes :

- The most unusual picture, with most unusual anecdote.
- Atlantis temples
- Pits' ambience
- The Care Bears

Only one picture for each team and each theme. Friday noon is the deadline ! Please put them at the welcome desk. Results will be shown at the "Coupe Off".

Atlantide...

Atlantis, or as the Greeks called it « island of Atlas » is an island that is supposed to have sunk in the ancient times. Often presented as the greatest of mysteries, it has been the subject of many tales. After many research, it appears to be a myth fabricated by Platon. Atlantis was in front of the pillars of Hercules (the strait of Gibraltar).

Sometimes, life is unfair...